

FHAM Business Student plays on TRU Women's Volleyball Team

Marisa Koch returns after playing for the full season 2008/2009

(May 2009) Marisa Koch (6th semester, Business) returned from Thompson Rivers University in May 2009 after having spent two semesters abroad in an academic exchange program. The highlight of her time at TRU was making the women's volleyball team and playing the full season.

Participation in the FHAM bi-lateral student exchange program with TRU that has been running now since winter semester 2006, opened the door for Marisa to play university volleyball at TRU. It was a great season as TRU continues to build their team and improve their rankings in the CanadaWest Conference. The team travelled across Western Canada playing against other university teams (including University of Alberta, University of British Columbia, and more). It was a demanding season combining training, travel, tournaments, a full academic load, as well as community events around Kamloops and the TRU campus.

For more information on FHAM international exchange programs contact the FHAM International Office (international@fham.de):

Article: TRU-Women's Volleyball
(<http://www.tru.ca/athletics/teams/wvb.html>)